I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bulletin 43, WD, 1918), a Silver Star is awarded by the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, to the following officers:

First Lieutenant JARVIS T. YAGLA, (0739871), Air Corps, United States Army. For gallantry in action on Lolabata Cape, Halmahera, on 16 September 1944. Lieutenant Yagla, piloting a PBY rescue plane, arrived at Cape lolabata during our landing operations on Morotai Island, and discovered that two of our fighter pilots had been shot down by the Japanese. They were floating in the water within two hundred yards of the shore, between enemy gun positions on one side and enemy barges on the other. In the face of intense anti-aircraft and machine gun cross-fire, and despite lack of fighter cover, Lieutenant Yagla unhesitatingly landed within a hundred feet of one our pilots. He succeeded in rescuing this officer, but discovered that the other one who was on a life raft nearby had succumbed. During the entire rescue operation, Lieutenant Yagla was subjected to an incessant enemy barrage which damaged his aircraft severely. His gallantry in rescuing a fallen airman under these hazardous conditions exemplifies the highest tradition of the United States Air Forces.

For extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flights to Lolabata Cape, Halmahera, on 16 September 1944. These officers and enlisted man, crew members of a PBY rescue plane, arrived at Cape Lolabata during out landing operations on Morotai Island and discovered that two of our fighter pilots had been shot down by the Japanese. They were floating in the water within two hundred yards of the shore, between enemy gun positions on one side and enemy barges on the other. In the face of intense anti-aircraft and machine gun cross-fire, and despite the lack of fighter cover, this crew unhesitatingly landed within a hundred feet of one the pilots. They succeeded in rescuing this officer, but discovered that the other one, who was on a life raft nearby, had succumbed. During the entire operation the rescue aircraft was subjected to incessant enemy barrage which damaged it severely. The outstanding courage and devotion to duty displayed by these crew members under hazardous conditions, are worthy of the highest commendation.
